

Mr. Charles Taylor

September 24, 1935 - May 18, 2021

Charles Edward Taylor was born on September 24, 1935 in Carthage, Arkansas to Lorraine Wilson and Alfred Taylor. On January 17, 1959, he symbolized his dedication to Jehovah God by water baptism. He married Janet Bogan (deceased) in 1957, and four children were born from that union (Wanda, Darryl, and David - deceased).

Charles found love again and married a beautiful spiritual sister Glenn Flowers-Burks, on April 15, 2006.

Charles was known for his great cooking style. He was an “Italian” chef for a number of years, and many drooled over his pizza and chicken cacciatore. Many also knew from the smell of the fried chicken at the 79th Street Assembly Hall that Charles was cooking in the kitchen.

Charles endured many challenges in his life but never lost his sense of humor and could easily laugh at himself. He loved his family, and his spiritual family was especially dear to him. Charles served as a ministerial servant. To many, he was “...a friend who sticks closer than a brother.” (Proverbs 18:24). As his health began to fail, Charles did not become discouraged. He found comfort in knowing that Jehovah will never forget him, and maintained his hope in the resurrection.

Charles leaves to cherish his memory: loving wife Glenn; daughter and son-in-law Constance and Larry Brown; brothers Vernon Taylor and Alvin Taylor; spiritual son and daughter Lorenzo and Shanita Flowers; grandchildren Amber Hawkins, Jasmyne Taylor, and Juan Taylor; seven great grandchildren, and a host of relatives and friends.
