

Deborah Faye Clark-Jackson

August 13, 1956 - January 1, 2012

Deborah Faye Clark was born on August 13, 1956 in Chicago, Illinois to Irven and Laura Buckner Jr. She was a happy child who loved to laugh and play with her seven siblings.

Deborah was that person who everybody loved. She was a good listener, no judgement just a loving ear who wanted to help. Her motto was "Anybody can Talk".

Her natural ability to decorate extended to knowing how to put together an outfit, a room, a picture, her own home was a study in African art. She loved sharing her home with family and friends they were always welcome. Her green thumb was evident in the many plants and flowers she cultivated with talent and love.

Deborah was blessed with two children Paris Marie Clark and Richard Clark III. Her life was double blessed when she met Percy Jackson and they united married. Percy and Deborah had "the home". The home that held the best parties, the fabulous food, the great decorations, "Halloween" was legendary.

Her love of people enabled her to work at Ada S. McKinley as a program aide. She enjoyed her clients and co-workers alike. She came to work each day with a positive attitude and a sense of purpose.

On January 1, 2012 Deborah Faye Clark-Jackson closed her eyes and took her rest. She was preceded in death by her father and mother and two brothers, Darryl and Cornell Buckner.

Deborah Faye Clark-Jackson will be dearly missed by all who knew her but especially her husband, Percy Jackson; natural children, Paris Marie and Richard III; step-children, Timothy, Percy and Theresa; three sisters, Yvonne, Yvette and Ann; two brothers, Irven III and Gregory; grandchildren, Larry, Christopher, Nevaeh, Brianna, Brooklyn, Tyesha, Dreshawn, Donte and Adam; and a host of nieces, nephews, and friends too numerous to mention.
