

Enoch Stokes Jr.

December 5, 1941 - January 17, 2015

Enoch Stokes Jr., affectionately known as "Junior" was born on December 5, 1941 in Carroll County, Greenwood, Mississippi to Enoch Sr. and Emma Stokes. He was blessed to be born into a large family with nine siblings, six brothers and three sisters. He grew up in Teorc, Mississippi and Chicago, Illinois.

Enoch Stokes Jr. was a loving father of three children and enjoyed the company of his grandchildren and great grandchild. He was an avid reader and sports enthusiast. He belonged to the National Rifle Association, being the huntsman that he was. Junior had a great passion for cooking and trying out recipes. He was known among his friends and family for his culinary skills. He also collected jazz records because he loved jazz.

On January 17, 2015, Enoch Jr. fell asleep in death. He was preceded in death by his loving parents Enoch Sr. and Emma Stokes; six brothers, William, Charles, James C., Johnny, Robert and Booker; and two sisters, Annette and Annie Mae.

Enoch Jr. leaves to cherish his memories, three children, Richard, Jerry Denise and Joyce; one loving sister, Queen Ester James; three grandchildren, one great grandchild, and a host of nieces, nephews, neighbors and friends.
