

Helen Parro

January 22, 1938 - September 7, 2016

Helen Parro was born on the Southside of Chicago, Illinois to the loving union of Bonifacio and Cecilia Perez. Helen spent her childhood growing up in Chicago and attended Bright School in South Deering.

Helen, plain and simple, loved life! Helen was always seen happy and chipper. To Helen, sadness and needless anxiety was thrown to the curbside. However, shopping at “Segunda’s” (Thrift Stores), eating at local restaurants, and matchmaking was at the forefront. Helen was known to whip up a hearty, full meal in a matter of minutes. This led to many eating at her modest table, enjoying her beautiful personality.

Other things on her mind were her children and grandchildren whom she asked about daily. More importantly though was speaking of her faith in God.

After a study of the Bible, Helen dedicated her life to Jehovah. She symbolized her dedication through water baptism on November 1, 1976, becoming one of Jehovah’s Witnesses. Speaking about her God Jehovah came naturally. No one was spared of her preaching tactics. Relatives, neighbors, patients, nurses, doctors, surgeons, paramedics, intimidating individuals, and well-groomed men, everyone was preached to! Jehovah’s name was told and spread by her, a faithful witness, Helen Parro.

On September 7, 2016, Helen fell asleep in death. Her joyful, resilient, amazing disposition will always be remembered. Soon, according to her own faith and what is in the Holy Scriptures, we will enjoy her again as a perfect woman, on a paradise earth.

Helen leaves to cherish her loving memories, her children, Daniel Duvernay, Donald Duvernay (Barbara), Susan Arredondo (Timothy), Maria Martinez (Jaime), Manuel Ramos (Lourdes) and Charlie Flores (Luisa); and a host of grandchildren, great grandchildren and friends.
