Jerome D. Williams was born August 7, 1964 in Itta Bena, Mississippi, to Clara W. Moore and Lieutenant Williams.

He professed his faith in Jesus Christ at an early age at Christ Temple #2 under the leadership of Pastor Marcus Iron.

He received his general education at Bloom Trial High School. Jerome then went on to receive a Biblical education at Moody Bible Institution and one at United Theological Seminary. During that time Jerome enlisted himself into the United States Army in 1982 and was honorably discharged in 1994.

Jerome was licensed by his father David Moore Sr. to preach at Greater St. Mark Baptist Church. He was officially ordained in August of 1986 at South Suburban Missionary Church under Reverend Z.L. He then joined his brother David Moore in assistanting to the Pastor at Greater New Mount Eagle Baptist Church. Jerome also worked for School District 169 of Ford Heights for 30 plus years where he enjoyed cooking for the youth.
