

Marion Evelyn Moore

March 19, 1925 - April 15, 2012

Marion Evelyn Moore was born on March 19, 1925 to Ednora and Christopher King in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Marion moved to Chicago, Illinois. She was a kind, loving and strong woman. Her beliefs made her life live to it's fullest and approach everything and everybody with a warm heart and smile. In her latest years, she became known for her saying, "I'm kicking but not too high" with a delightful cheer in her voice.

Marion united in holy matrimony with Marshal Hart and to that union, one daughter was born Patricia Lavidia. She later united in holy matrimony with Robert Moore and to that union three sons and one daughter were born.

After a careful study of God's word, Marion dedicated her life to Jehovah. She symbolized her dedication through water baptism. She served Jehovah faithfully, preaching the Good News as commanded at Matthew 24:14

On April 15, 2012, Marion fell asleep in death. She was preceded in death by her parents, Ednora and Christopher King; her daughter, Patricia Lavidia Hart Johnson; three sons; one great grandson, Eric R. Stallings; and one nephew, Christopher Calvin King Jr.

Marion leaves to cherish her loving memories, one daughter, Faith Shaw (William); four granddaughters, Darlene Hart Stallings (Alcee), Cynthia Byrd (Samuel), Lavidia Rodgers and Paisley Kirkland; two grandsons, Sandy Johnson (Karen) and Christopher Lee Wells; nine great granddaughters, Tiffany, Karla, Cateland, Cerenity, Apryl, Meshelle, Sherri, Jordyn and Kamryn; two great grandsons, D'marco and Rashaad; one great-great granddaughter, Anela Rodgers; one nephew, Albert Lee King; and a host of other relatives and friends.
