

Tara K. Holloway

February 28, 1992 - December 16, 2020

Tara Kwana Holloway, also known as "Tete", was born on February 28, 1992 in Chicago, Illinois to Geneva Boyson and Derek Spencer. She was adopted by Miss Phyllis Holloway and raised on the far Southside of Chicago. She attended and graduated from Schmid Elementary and Community Youth Development Institute. At a young age, she professed her faith and was baptized.

With aspirations to be in the medical field, Tara took classes to become a CNA at Everest College. Ambitious and headstrong, she quickly entered the workforce. She wore many hats and would often clock out of one job and clock into another within hours of each other. Although her jobs didn't fit her initial vision, she embraced every last role with pride and did what she did best-build long lasting relationships.

In her lifetime, she had several best friends because she was so personable. Tara loved to dance, enjoyed music, and going to parties with family and friends. Following the passing of her favorite cousin, Marielle, Tara's outlook on life changed for the better. She worked hard and earned everything she ever had.

Tara Holloway, 28 years of age, unexpectedly passed on Wednesday, December 16, 2020, at Advocate Trinity Hospital of pneumonia. Tara now joins her maternal grandmothers, Julia Lee Irby-Sims and Lillie May Spencer; her grandfather, Cornelius Boyson; as well as her sister, Lakeena Reavers and her dear cousin Marielle Carson.

Remaining to cherish her beloved memory are: mother, Geneva Boyson; father, Derek Spencer; her bonus father, Louis Brown; her adoptive mother, Phyllis Holloway; her siblings, Mia, Pierre, India, Demetrius, Darryl De'Shawn, Kisha, Julia, Aja, Lazerrick, Sophia, Jennifer, Matthew, Jason, Philip and John Patrick. She was a great aunt to Nia, Imanii, Jasinda, Traves, Phoenix, Quawi Jr., Jada, Keanu, and Isla. She also leaves behind her godson Edward Wilcox Jr., her sister/niece Marquette Brewer, and her best friends Chevice Naide and Idasha Wilson. There are a host of aunts, uncles, cousins, friends, and coworkers, that she held dear to her heart.
